The day the music dies

not to brood. Others pick up the tune. Never

those desired, though
after conferring

irrelevancy, they
soon take you

at your word,
paying little

attention to smoke
whorling

the wounds of fresh kills.